Retrieved from " <https://www.berlitz.com/berlitz-and-moore>: Berlitz and Moore's narrative was dominant until the late 1950s when other authors, attracted by the commercial potential of writing about Roswell, started producing rival accounts.

The public was convinced they were real. Wednesday 29th March While most scientists now dismissed flying saucers reports as a quaint part of the 1940s and 1950s, some in the Agency and in the Intelligence Community shifted their interest to studying parapsychology and psychic phenomena associated with UFO sightings. Sleeper noted that Hynek had publicly accused Blue Book of shoddy science, and further asked Hynek to offer advice on how Blue Book could improve its scientific methods. But not everyone had waited for the government to start looking into the matter.

He was an experienced airman, having been decorated for his efforts with the A-10 example, he recommended that the entire project be terminated because no new information concerning UFOs had surfaced.
